PARTY LINES CUT

Minister McCreary, Provincial Secretary Hume, George S. Henry, Minister of Agriculture, and J. B. McCreary, Minister of Education, were present. The meeting was held in the House of Commons.

Next move is up to Ottawa because the government has to decide whether to support the amendment or not. The amendment is to give the House of Commons the right to pass a resolution of censure against the government.

No debate on Motion

The House acted on the amendment which, among other things, provides for the House of Commons to pass a resolution of censure against the government. The amendment was passed by a majority of 100 to 40.

The House then moved to the order of the day. The House will meet again on Monday.

Conservative Party Motion

Proctor's motion was defeated. The House then moved to the order of the day. The House will meet again on Monday.

Only five of the Conservatives in the House joined Mr. Macaulay in supporting his colleague's motion. The vote was 100 to 40.

Mr. Macaulay previously had stated that he would support the motion if it was passed. The House then moved to the order of the day. The House will meet again on Monday.

THE SEVEN DWARFS—
THREE CHARACTERS
IN "SNOW WHITE"
The seven stirring dwarfs in
"Snow White" first feature-length production. Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, will not be strange personality to anyone viewing them. Each represents a type of human being in this fascinating production in Technicolor which RKO Radio distributes in the world's picture houses.

Doc, the self-appointed leader, is self-important and pompous. He has a habit of getting into the worst and ideas mixed and of searching for the right word in vain. His overly glibness and very efficient in his own mind while his insistence is necessary, when he becomes nervous that he can't make any decision at all.

Grumpy is a fat, red-poly little fellow with a perpetual smile and a bright cherry nose.

Sleepy sees life through half-closed eyes and talks always through a yawn. He talks little, but when he does say something it is straight to the point, even though he doesn't know it.

Grumpy, the real leader of the group, is "darn" everything. He climbs into a "sunbeam." He is sneaky, a crab and yet, much to his disgust, he has a very soft heart under the crust. When trouble arises, it is Grumpy, who sits first.

Dopey is a lovable slightly-hillbilly fellow who gets a great kick out of life. He is shy and mischievous.

MRS. AITKEN VISITS BELLEVILLE

Famous Canadian Dietician Brings Cooking School

Friday, April 8th, the women of Belleville will welcome the visit of Mrs. Aitken, who will bring to this locality that famous radio personality, dietician and lecturer, Mrs. H. M. Aitken.

One Canadian woman is so widely known in this part as Mrs. Aitken, her annual school at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, her regular monthly school over the Toronto District CPWA and her travelling cooking school, that it is hardly necessary to say that she will be here.

One of the factors in the success of this cooking school is the interest and entertainment presented by Mrs. Aitken. She is a woman of many talents, a writer, a lecturer, a dietician, a cook, and a hostess.

Always for "Wife" is Explained by Mrs. Roosevelt

At one of her recent press conferences Mrs. Roosevelt touched on the question of the divorce. "We did not call it 'Wife' but said, in effect to the newspaper, 'I am not married.'"

Parents Must Win Child's Respect

As Attitudes Toward Them Reflects What He Is Treated

(By Lisa O'Connell)

"Why should my children be treated and discriminated to meet parents' orders?" "That's not what I want." "I'm a loving parent."

It is, however, what most of you desire. In almost every case, the children we have are the children we deserve. Their attitude, whether we like it or not, is one we have brought about.

Do you wish to work hard for them, only to see them turn their backs on you? Do you wish to see them turn their backs on you?

Do you wish to see them turn their backs on you? Do you wish to see them turn their backs on you?

where. "Robert—if I ask you not to,"

"No good, my dear,"

"She was afraid for a moment, then she urged, "Well, you go, and let me stay home."

"There was no reply to that, and she said, "I shall be quite all right, if you'll let me stay, and Miss Harwood doesn't really want me."

"If I go, you will go too."

"Oh, but why! Surely you can trust me to look after myself."

"You don't I don't trust."

"Not me—then!....."

He turned, like to look at her, but she caught him suddenly every: "It's I, I don't trust."

Gyris drew back from him. "That's an insult to me," she said sadly.

"Is it? I'm sorry if you take it that way, but the fact remains that while you're—mentally—my wife, I'm having another man hanging around."

She said indignantly, "He's never been near me—or tried to—"

There was a profound silence. "I'm sorry," Syrie almost whispered. "You accused me once of being jealous. It rather looks as if I'm doing so again," she spoke, she said. "Did you hear that?"

"Yes, I heard," he said calmly. But such a foolish remark doesn't require an answer.

Syrie sank back in her seat, her hands lightly clasped in her lap. "I'm not going to Cornwall," she said.

Syrie bought a new frock for Joan Baker's party, she knew that she had to be ready for it, and she had all for Basil Lord's benefit, but her real concern was to look her best when she met her lover.

It chilled her to find that Robertson had been so unkind to her. It troubled her had taken. There had been a certain feeling of constraint between them since that day when she had dined with Miss Starwood, and although she was not at all the kind of girl, good tempered and friendly, Syrie knew there was a hard spot in her heart which she was not doing his best to hide.

"Of course," she gave Spry her you look."

Basil Roach joined them, saying two look.
"Hello, Robert," Robert said,

she said, "Hello, Basil."

She'd been away, and Basil turned to her. "You haven't been here before, have you? It's great fun. Nothing like it anywhere else. I've been here since I was 12. I've never seen anyone else who has cleared out the other room so that we can dance. He's never had a girl here, has he? It seems like I've been here since we met."

"Is Mrs. Loder here?" Brylie asked.

"No, she's not," Basil said.

He led her down the room to a large buffet which was spread with a variety of snacks and various drinks. "I'll get you a drink," he said. "Loder brought up one of those men who looked admirably like Brylie, and presently she found him dancing with a young woman. I formed her that she was the best dancer he had ever met."

"I'll go and dance with you," said Robert as he was talking to Joan. "I'll go and look at the other room." As she looked he suddenly picked up a tumbler and rapped on the door.

"Ladies and gentlemen—this is my anniversary," he said. "It is my hostess's birthday—twenty-two years ago. I wish to thank you all—most—! Many happy returns."

"She's more than twenty-one," said Brylie's partner said. "That's just arm round her waist and kissed her. "Many happy returns of the day," he said again. "Every one laughed and clapped, and I was flattered again. 'That's true I didn't expect,' she said to him.

"He put down her glass. 'Shall you go on dancing?' she asked. 'No! No! I've known the meaning of the word well enough now, but my heart seemed to be beating in my throat, choking me. 'Lover! joined them. 'Any dance' said in his easy way. 'You can't monopolize the flower of the all right you know, Bennet," whined Byrie again. "The room is too small for me. I've crowded out my bed and I've got to sleep on the floor. I've got to lie her out onto the porch. We can go out and walk in the yard, if you'd like some air," he said.

"It's frightfully hot," she added. "I'll look her hand and they went the stairs and out into the porch to sleep. Suddenly he drew closer to ask, "Are you glad to see me?"

"Yes," she said. "I'm glad," he said. "I've thought about every cent since we last met."

"You laughed," "Why do people laugh?" she asked. "Why do people laugh?" he asked. "Why do people laugh?" she asked. "Why do people laugh?" he asked.

"That is meant for me," he said. "That is meant for me—that I get you."

Well, why not? She had been waiting for some time. She was not; unconsciously she drew a nearer to him.

"I hadn't been such a fool," she said, with a bitter smile.

Errie laughed. "Don't be silly, —you were quite right. I like you. I like you very much. You now are for waking me up."

"Are you to love with Harwood?" asked suddenly.

"No," she said. "You've asked me before." She looked away from him down the empty maze of the stairs.

"You are not serious," he said. "Let's go back."

"No," she said, and in silence he went with her.

Robert was not in the crowded room. He had reached the door. A rhythmic was being played between two young couples were giving their exaggerated exhibition of love.

"I can do that," Errie said modestly. She tapped at Loder's hand.

"No," he said. "I don't want you. I am felt excited and reckless."

"I've missed a fine exhibition opening, Harwood," said some one and Syre slipped down from his shoulder.

"You want something to drink like she said. All her wild excitement had gone, and she felt awkward. She looked at Robert as he avoided her eyes.

"My dear said beside her in a low voice, "Lunch with me tomorrow, you like."

Girl Should "Date" Boy Own Age

Not Always Best For Adult With Older Youth

(By LISA GREENGLASS)

There was very pretty and attractive, she was 17 years old, and she was a very pretty girl. She was a very pretty girl, and she was a very pretty girl. She was a very pretty girl, and she was a very pretty girl.

She began to speak with contempt of old men. "What's your baby?" she would say. "You're just a big old man."

Not that Flora was totally unattractive, but she was a very pretty girl. She was a very pretty girl, and she was a very pretty girl. She was a very pretty girl, and she was a very pretty girl.

Make Allowance

Each should take the other's age into consideration. The man must remember that he is a man of 40. He must make up his mind to be a man of 40.

It will be a big girl, and she can see an even course with the children. It will be a big girl, and she can see an even course with the children. It will be a big girl, and she can see an even course with the children.

UNDETERRED "A. K. C.": You are a very pretty girl, and you are a very pretty girl. You are a very pretty girl, and you are a very pretty girl. You are a very pretty girl, and you are a very pretty girl.

Mrs. William Harrison of Wednesbury, Aug. 20, Eva Bernshaw, wife of Harrison, passed away.

Reports from outside points this morning state that roads and highways are in a more or less dangerous condition for driving as radio commentators issued warnings to the public to do no other driving than was absolutely necessary.

with treacherous conditions rapidly disappearing with fast melting

Colorful Spring raiment that made its appearance on city streets was conspicuous by its absence today, with fashionable youth falling back on Winter apparel as a protection against the wintry atmosphere. Goloshes were brought out from Winter retirement, while in some cases rubber boots were the vogue.

Caught unaware by the sudden advent of Wintry atmosphere, numbers of robins were seen huddled protection from the storm. Searching for food the birds were not pecking at old leaves and refuse near barns and other buildings. Kind-hearted housewives were seen distributing bread-crumbs to the quert hall.

QUEBEC POWDER PLANT RENT BY EXPLOSIONS

Firemen had a narrow escape from death when three quick explosions wrecked the stamping and pressing houses of the Canada Bronze Powder Works at Valleyfield, Que. Three explosions within thirty seconds ripped the roof and part of the walls out of the buildings. Damage was estimated at $45,000. The inside of the stamping plant, ripped open by the blast, is shown, bottom. It was here that the firemen narrowly escaped death as shattered walls crumpled around them nearly trapping them.

This time last year the poets detestance of baseball training camp pictures was one of Joe DiMaggio taking a hefty cut at the ball. But this year, alas, such things are impossible and the picture shows why.
Instead of being in the sunny south with his team-mates as they prepare for another American League campaign (or parade) Joe is in sunny California sitting back and waiting for Yankee-owner Colonel Jack Ruppert to agree to his own departure. The pride and joy of the spaghetti-eating fraternity was caught here as he watched the opening game of the Pacific Coast League season in San Francisco. Joe is not the only star in the picture.
On the left is Hank Luiselet, one of the Stanford basketball team, who was the first to score, and on the right is a member of the Stanford intercollegiate basketball this season. The young lady is Kay
Thompson, a friend of Hank.

Experts Give Advice on Make-Up For the Dark-Haired Beauties

By JULIUS KIMBLE

ARE YOU a dark-haired beauty? Do you feel like a dark beauty? If so, it may be because you are not using the correct shades of cosmetics for your particular type of beauty.

It has long been the custom to choose shades of makeup by the color of your hair. It is particularly true for a girl with dark hair. Dark hair is a great asset, but it can also be a liability. It can make it difficult to choose the right shades of makeup. The key is to choose shades that complement your hair color.

For dark-haired beauties, the key is to choose shades that are not too dark. Dark makeup can make you look like a dark beauty. Instead, choose shades that are just a little darker than your hair color. This will make you look like a dark beauty without looking like one.

Dark eyes, wear rust becomingly.

Reversible dressmaker bathing suit is in maroon blue jersey weave

By LINDSEY
Dressmaker bathing suits seem to have the edge on all others so far this season. What goes over with a bang under the sun shines and the jersey weave is in maroon and blue. Not to mention during the winter months, will very likely be what the mod and matrons will be wearing when the mercurial sun is in the sky.

So is a dressmaker suit for you if you are new to the sun. It is something new under the sun, "darker off," as the French would say, the "dark world," as we call it.

Consider now the new reversible bathing suit. It is something new under the sun, "darker off," as the French would say, the "dark world," as we call it.

Two on this page are three versions of the new reversible bathing suit. The one on the left is made of navy blue and white. The one in the middle is made of navy blue and white. The one on the right is made of navy blue and white.

Muriel Oxford played a polka, innocent role a year ago in the London production of "The Duke of York," which was the last of her appearances on the London stage.

Yorpe departed March 9, 1927, from the party after having a party given in the London News Office at the end of a voyage from New York. A coroner's jury at home, England, returned an open verdict that Yorpe's death was "due to drowning after some exertion," but it is impossible to say from the evidence how he got into the water.

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (except on Sundays and public holidays) at the following address:

THE TRUE TRIUMPH

More lasting than the triumphs of military leaders was the triumph of Christ over evil. It was the statement of a New York preacher recently, Christians believe that as a very truth and the whole tenor of Lent is to stress the soul value of sacrifice and the loving of one's enemies as the ultimate victory in life. Not only individual Christians but Christian states cannot but hold the same view, despite the impressiveness of the pomp of dictators and their evident satisfaction in the demonstrations of power. But the dictators' victories go the way of all temporal things.

That is the faith of democracies, however fearful at times, they may be and however shaken in their faith. They know that Napoleon said that victory perches on the side of the heaviest battalions, but they realize that through the heaviest battalions may win, it is more likely the spirit which fires the army that wins. In the highest sense they know that peace, justice, peace and confidence are the only enduring things. They know that the way of Christ was the way of peace and love while dictators are accompanied with tanks, bombing planes and the opportunities of war.

Rev. Dr. Harry Fackel, in place to preach the idealism of Christ who taught men to love their enemies, and to place their reliance upon spiritual forces, and its counterpart in the modern world with "all its barbarity and confidence in violence."

In this world which Christianity upholds the ideals of peace and love, Christians stand as the only enduring things. They know that the people demonstrate their faith and courage, which have been a source of pride and confidence in their lives.

In the closing services of this week, the minds of the people are faced with the fact that the triumph of Christ was the triumph of the spirit which overcame the flesh, the triumph of the spirit which overcame the flesh, the triumph of the spirit which overcame the flesh.

WHITHER THE TOURISTS THIS YEAR?

While Europe still possesses age-old charms which will continue to appeal only to persons of the old world, the new world, there is not the slightest doubt that at this time, there are tourists in the world who are not so much attracted to the old world as they are to the new world. The tourists of the new world are not so much attracted to the old world as they are to the new world. The tourists of the new world are not so much attracted to the old world as they are to the new world.

That disturbed mood of Europe is bound to keep many persons with money and the desire to see things that in the great world be at home in Canada and in the United States unless they are prepared to travel in the land of freedom and settled government, the British Isles. Europe which really could "stand" the tourists and their dollars will be deprived of them to a large extent because of the international developments which have overtaken "The Continent."

But those dollars will serve to develop "home," that is, the American Continent and the rest of the world. The tourists of the new world are not so much attracted to the old world as they are to the new world. The tourists of the new world are not so much attracted to the old world as they are to the new world.

To Canada the tourist trade is something of an immunity which cannot be realized in other localities. The tourists of the new world are not so much attracted to the old world as they are to the new world. The tourists of the new world are not so much attracted to the old world as they are to the new world.

Europe could stand the impact of American and Canadian dollars and United States dollars. The tourists of the new world are not so much attracted to the old world as they are to the new world. The tourists of the new world are not so much attracted to the old world as they are to the new world.

When Europe settles down the trade will resume, but meanwhile, the lands need the money and the spirit of the New World must go without to the old world.

FISHING

Fish can be bought in the market place. But it isn't the fish I am after, I want to be free from the care-driven face I want to get out where skies are clear And by the river brink, I want to go where the woods are clear I want a few hours to think.

Oh! It isn't the fish I go to get, But there's joy in the swishing line, And a splendid thrill when my hook is set And I'm back to my honest laughter, I want to get out where skies are clear And by the river brink, I want to go where the woods are clear I want a few hours to think.

Oh, fish can be bought in the market place But there's joy in the running stream, And I want to get free from the care-driven face And the city of dreadful dreams; And I want to get out, just my soul and I, On some sun-kissed shore, at a few mad hours rush by, The man that I am, once more.

expressing the feeling developed in nervous people by events, real or imaginary, such as to cause them to lose their mental poise either for the time being. Lord Halifax, Secretary of State, in the British Government, tells of one individual who was "jittery" lately. Here is the story as told to the House of Lords:

"It was brought to the telephone one day by a member of the House of Commons, a person who told me that Germany, Italy and Japan were on the point of making a joint declaration of war against the United States, that several parts of the dominions were to be distributed according to plan, and that this was not a joke, but a serious matter."

A Good 1000 Calorie Reducing Diet

It is very gratifying to see the interest which physicians in general take in the problem of reducing weight. It is gratifying to see the knowledge that overweight is responsible for many diseases, and that the work of the latest blood-purifiers and other remedies is of little value.

Instead of simply adhering to the weight of the patient, the physician studies the shape of the patient and the normal anatomy of the patient. NOW make "bloe Monday": a thing of the past. Put an end to tedious rubbing and scrubbing. No more harsh, irritating washcloths or 90 frequently bring.

For here is a new "no-scrub" soap that actually soaks out dirt in 15 minutes. It whitens whites—25% to 40% less time. It whitens whiter—in 25% to 40% less time.

This new creation is called OXYDOL—no scrubbing, no boiling, even 15 minutes. No scratching, no boiling. Even "grimy" collar beads.

... come clean with a quick rub. (7) Get whites & 5 shades whiter. (8) Cuts water time 25% to 40%, in tub or machine. (9) Safe for every washable color. (10) No scrubbing, no boiling.

Oxydol is economical, too. Tests show a single cup of it makes as much suds as 4 cups of regular soap. Oxydol tests it's a money-saver, too.

In your own interest, try OXYDOL—no delay. See for yourself how safe, effective, economical. For utmost economy and convenience, ask for the "Sist." Procter & Gamble.

The Surprise Party

By ELLEN A. FAYLES

"Good-by Mrs. Perkins. Of course, to Mr. Perkins, will you be?" she beamed a moment.

"Mrs. Perkins, what do you think I'm a fool?"

Mrs. Perkins looked at the front door after the visitor, murmuring to herself as she did not ask me before, if I thought I'd agree, all right.

She stood for a moment in deep thought, and then, hastily turning around, she went to the back door and over the velvet tracks to the Perkins' front door.

There she found making mud pies, and had reached them, when she could hardly be told apart, with which they were busy.

"Mrs. Perkins," she asked Mrs. Perkins, "what are you doing?"

"Mrs. Perkins was making mud pies, but she had to go to the page of a novel, but when she saw her husband, she was so surprised, she ran to the back door and over the velvet tracks to the Perkins' front door.

"Mrs. Perkins," she asked Mrs. Perkins, "what are you doing?"

Doctors Check Kidneys First

Doctors have been told to check the kidneys first when a patient complains of backache, headache, or general weakness.

The kidneys are the body's filters, and when they are not working properly, they can cause a variety of symptoms.

It is important to get a proper diagnosis, as the kidneys are a vital part of the body's health.

Doctors recommend that patients with back pain or other symptoms should have their kidneys checked first.

This is because the kidneys are often the first to show signs of trouble.

By checking the kidneys first, doctors can often identify the cause of the problem.

Patients should not ignore symptoms, as they could be a sign of a more serious condition.

Regular check-ups can help catch kidney problems early.

It is always best to consult with a doctor if you have any concerns about your health.

Doctors will use various tests to check the function of the kidneys.

These tests can help determine if there is any damage to the kidneys.

Early detection is key to successful treatment of kidney problems.

Patients should follow their doctor's advice and take any prescribed medication.

A healthy diet and regular exercise can also help maintain kidney health.

Doctors are always looking for new ways to improve kidney care.

Patients should stay informed about the latest medical advances.

Working closely with a doctor can lead to the best possible outcome.

Remember, your kidneys are essential for your overall health.

Take care of your kidneys, and you'll be taking care of your future.

Doctors are committed to providing the highest quality care for their patients.

Patients should feel confident in their doctor's ability to help them.

Together, doctor and patient can overcome any health challenge.

Stay healthy, stay happy, and keep your kidneys in top shape.

Doctors are here to help you every step of the way.

British Plan is Four-Power Pact of Italy, Germany, France, Britain
'END TO FRICTION'

Many Newspapers in London View Treaty as Triumph

London, April 18 (CP)—The Associated Press today said Prime Minister Chamberlain, gratified at the first step toward removing political differences with Italy, was about to be waiting for Germany to take the initiative in a new approach to Franco-Italian settlement.

He took this stand, it was said, because his last approach to Germany was frustrated by the Italian refusal to accept the terms of the Foreign Minister Joseph von Ribbentrop in London to discuss settlement.

Negotiations Which Miscalculation
"The Harns News Agency" quoted "informed political sources" as saying the Prime Minister Chamberlain was open negotiations with Germany "within a month, but at an understanding which, if not in terms of an agreement similar to that just concluded with Italy, would result in a lessening of tension."

Rainfall and electric light. It is a common observation that the sun supplies us with practically all our best energy. To realize this let us use what is available in dollars and cents. Electric light and heat, for example, cost about one penny per kilowatt hour. At that rate, the sun supplies us with about one kilowatt hour of energy in a square yard per hour, or one kilowatt hour per square mile. Unfortunately, the sun is not so close to us as it is to the sun. We may learn to use the sun's energy in a more efficient way.

THE NATIVES' WAYS

Once again the Japanese have run up against the ways of the Chinese, who simply won't be defeated according to the rules of warfare of great nations like Japan. Chinese have expressed their confidence of winning the war, which Japan imposed upon them through the rest of the world. Chinese spirit. It may be ancient, while the Japanese have tried to be modern in some ways.

It is remarkable to hear the complaints of the invaders that Chinese are not playing the game. But what invader nation ever played the game? Also it is to be noted that the Chinese though they have appealed to the League have not set up a wait about their position—they have gone about to do the best they can.

Westerners remember seeing in the press that the Japanese wanted to get hold of Kai-Shan for war purposes and so expected. But it is that playing the game? The Chinese might ask if they took the time to ask but they did not—they just poster the Japanese—lemon million millions who fight by the schedule and that schedule has included bombing of civilians and burning of cities.

The latest irritation expressed by the Japanese won't win Japan any sympathy from the rest of the world which is either despising who are not playing the game of tactics which are supposed to have little sympathy for complaints. So the Japanese must win all alliance they can get to cheer the Chinese. But here's what the Japanese officers say of the Chinese—that native soldiers fight in behind the lines and are as good as dead as soon as they are of weapons concealed in peasant huts and are discovered to be Chinese combatants.

Japanese and Japanese leaders, who in villages in which "unmentionable" tactics are allowed by the Chinese to prevail.

What does a Japanese invader expect? He would do the same if Chinese armies were in Japan. But then the spin-like Japanese are not just liquidating an incident. But the Chinese know their ancient foe is at war and fight him with all the resources Japan can muster.

THE SEAT OF EMPIRE

It has been said that the westward trend of empire makes its way and now comes a British economic writer who would transfer the headquarters of the Empire from London to the Pacific. London has not been accepted by public men as feasible for the huge transfer of a population, picking up their belongings from London and moving to a new world has never been demonstrated on such a scale. Canada more than ever feels the need of a better explanation if the larger population can be economically fit into the scheme of the country without disruption of the Dominion, but would hardly hope for such an explanation.

Canadians much as they would like to see their country grow to supreme greatness, do not desire to pluck up British civilization by the roots from its empire soil and see it transferred here. Such plucking and transferring would mean a new world to traditions and a large share of the inspiration which is British and world civilization. Britain has her roots of oak deeply planted in the soil of the Old World, but she has also her branches in the New World of America, the Antipodes and other far-flung possessions of her Empire. Her far-decades will see magnificent development in Canada with the full flower of British civilization. British civilization can exist and will exist in Europe as long as European civilization exists and it can exist also in another form in Canada and the British Isles—proud actions of a noble race, Europe and through Europe, Asia, Africa and Oceania and America, and the rest of the Old World, the great bulwark of democracies.

Britain out of Europe would mean perhaps a somewhat isolated position in world affairs, which is not to be thought of. Britain is the centre about which the rest of world civilization of this time revolves and to which the world looks, even the great democracy of the United States.

Canada want a great British population will have it, but Britain will stay in the Old World. In the course of world events, Britain has been made the responsible figure to carry the torch of civilization. Britishers will always be in the Empire, their "home" and many millions of them will live in Canada to.

WHAT WOULD YOUR ANSWER BE?

By Arthur L. Burke

When you were a boy or a girl did you ever play with

You were like your mother and dad? Did you think if you were, your heart would be light

And none of your days would be sad?

Did you wish as you wended your way to school

That books were a thing of the past?

Did you think without grammar and other things hard

You'd be able to learn just as fast?

Did you long for the time when the old school would

That the holidays soon would arrive?

Did you sigh when the last of vacation was gone?

Did you feel you were scarcely alive?

But now since you've taken your place in the world

Do you wish you could younger be?

Did you wonder who you give if you were a child

Again at your mother's knee?

Can you call to your mind the twilight

And the little prayer you said,

That something tough, that goodnight kiss

As she tucked you safe in bed?

Is your life as pure as it was in youth?

Is your heart as happy and free,

As you had your life to live anew

Say! What would your answer be?

EDITORIALS AND THEMES

IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS, apparently, for an attempt to read one which appeared recently in a Halifax newspaper, caused an argument and occupied considerable time of the House, and it never was finally decided whether under the rules of the House the editor of the paper should be allowed to read the editorial or whether the course of the argument, or repeated passages by the various members who participated in the debate, and several pieces of Hansard now tell the whole and story. The Prime Minister, The Leader of the Opposition and the Speaker took part in the debate in addition to two members from British Columbia and several from the Maritime Provinces. And it was all over the statement that guns were being moved from Halifax coast defences to Vancouver coast defences, and vice versa. However, it helped to pass the time away on a bill day.

A point factor in the march of Ottawa Grenadiers to the Canadian Junior hockey finals was Billy Taylor, above, hand-playing high-scoring center. Billy led his team in scoring over the regular season and turned in five star games as he led his first defeated Toronto Marlboros. In the group play-off in the first game of the eastern final, Taylor scored three goals. William bagged three goals.

NEW NAZI FORTRESSES

Slap Proves Serious

The "slap in the face" which commander Robert Brown (above) received in a House of Commons altercation recently had serious consequences when the commander was reported in a critical condition as the result of a beating. The slap was caused by a swing and a fall of his own doing. The blow was struck slightly by Brown's left hand, which was raised, who wrestled a bloody turn by Brown that he was in Poland.

Loss of Appaling On Top of Bonura Deal Puts James Joseph Dykes In Tough Spot

By BILL BRADICER
Control From Canadian Press Wire

Arguments about the destiny of the White Sox as a result of the White Sox manager Jimmy Dykes' resignation during the off-season must wait upon the recovery of LaSalle's health.

If LaSalle doesn't get back in three before June, the White Sox chances to stay in the first division must be regarded as slim. The hand-hitting shortstop, one of the best infielders in the American League, suffered a broken ankle in a training camp game. The medical figure he will be out of the game for five to eight weeks. But it may be three months before the star can get back to his job, because he is the best left leg being fractured.

That Bonura Deal

That blow in Sox hopes came on the heels of a decision by the United Order of Amalgamated Amalgams to the effect that Dykes had thrown a wrench into the works.

fourth-best hitter in the league for Joe Judge, a fancy first-baseman without much authority at the plate.

The Argentinian previously had given the Sox no worse than an even break in the deal that sent Fred Walker and Young Kennedy to Detroit in exchange for Gerald Walker, Martin Green and Mike Trevis. With the developments such as they are, Sox will have to hit 300 to keep the Sox up there, and Green will have to add 40 points to his 288 batting average of last year. Trevis is a young catcher who probably will be Luke Sewell's understudy, and not much except cheers can be expected from him for a year or so.

Walker, Kerevich, Fin Semelby and Henry Stroh figures on one Sox season, and Henry Stroh figures on one Sox season, and Henry Stroh figures on one Sox season.

It is likely most of the spring will be done by Ted Lyons, Mule Davidson, Lefty Thornton, Leo Buzar, Cain, Johnny Whitehead, Clint Hawn, Bill Dierbach, Johnny Rippey and perhaps Bill Cox, a young man from St. Paul. Director Dykes has hope for improvement by Rippey, and if Johnny Stroh decides to become a stand-by, it would be a great help, indeed.

How to Fix Gaps?

Plugging that hole at short during the absence of Appaling is the hardest job Dykes faces now. Plugging that hole at short during the absence of Appaling is the hardest job Dykes faces now. Plugging that hole at short during the absence of Appaling is the hardest job Dykes faces now.

SCHOLARS ACT IN EASTER STORY DRAMATIZATION

Taborance S. S. Members Tell Gospel Story in Drama

At Taborance Church on Easter Sunday the scholars of the Sunday School presented "Children of the Kingdom," a dramatization which told in striking manner the story of the resurrected Christ. "Those taking part were splendid character actors and the play was well received with an appreciative audience." The scene was laid somewhere about the shores of the Lake of Galilee, shortly after the resurrection of Christ. There were kneeling men, men of prayer, men who were not alone in their faith, but men who were in the midst of the little ones who were coming in faith and earnest in their lives of the Kingdom of God. The parts were taken as follows: Joseph—Wesley Minton, Timothy—Edna Goodfellow, Joseph—Karl Kiro, Martin—Gloria Hume, Timothy—Karl Kiro, Deborah—Barbara Hume, Mary—Wesley Minton, Timothy—Gloria Hume.

A PRINCESS'S BIRTHDAY

There are millions upon millions of little girls of twelve throughout the world on whom parents and brothers and sisters and others dote, but there is one twelve year old girl, who occupies a most important place in the world today—twelve year old Princess Elizabeth of England and who yet in some ways has not the freedom of the average girl of her age, and who the does in other respects naturally possess greater advantages than can ever come to other children of like years.

It is the heir presumptive to the British Throne and in the course of time may rule the vastest of empires. Therefore it is essential that into her training should be woven many factors which are not necessary in the education of other girls of twelve, because she must be trained not only to be a woman but also because possibly some day she may be monarch.

The Princess has the wisest of educators, her mother, King George, her father, the Duke of York, and Queen Mary, who are beloved everywhere for their nobility of character and their devotion of the most noble of family and social life. These guides and mentors will bring into the Princess's education that which is necessary in the event of her being called to the Throne.

This training means certain sacrifices to attain that qualification. She may not do some things she no doubt would like to do, but such restraints are necessary for the high office she occupies as she grows up as the future heir of the throne.

On Thursday, her 12th birthday, she was hostess at a party, at which she poured tea to her parents, the Duke and Duchess of York, Princess Margaret Rose, her sister, her cousin Prince Edward of Kent and children of close relatives. In the afternoon she was the charming of the Windsor Castle and as she stood at the window was greeted by large crowds. In the evening she attended some more with the method of the day.

It was, royal in every respect, for at that occasion she first became a royal personage.

GREY OWL'S ORIGIN

Grey Owl, the student of nature, lecturer and writer, was dead but a few days before the Chicago began to rain. Some of the people who were not on Indian but a Britisher. Such probes at the time have the advantage of being data on both sides of the question. It is a question whether they will settle more quickly and more definitely the point at dispute, than under the method of the times, when perhaps it is years or even generations after a famous figure had passed before some one begins to investigate his life and work. One would think that today with money of the living observations about it would be easy to settle the question but from what has been gathered by the press it seems as if it will be impossible to satisfy anyone and the dispute will persist.

London Times is one of the newspapers holding that discussion of the origin of Grey Owl was a supremely unimportant topic and goes on to say "Of every man and work some some adjustment to circumstances. Every man, consciously or unconsciously, must see himself on a stage acting the part which he has decreed he will play. It is, in the pursuit of a strange and lonely path, Grey Owl thought will to adopt race and tradition and not his own. He was a man who tried to deceive his fellowmen, to amuse the children who loved him, but in order to feel himself really and spirit he had to be a man — he did it that the truth of him might be more true."

Many writers have decided the curiosity which has been shown in the question of his origin, but it is a human fiction. Still it is doubtful if the effort to make him an Indian or a man will ever be the end of the controversy. Had Grey Owl lived he would have become a great leader of American Indians."

Mrs. Harry M. Moore, Trenton Courier-Advocate, expresses his view in these words: "Grey Owl is dead, but the fact that he was not an Indian, but a man, is a fact which, Archie Belaney, by name, should not make his writings less readable, less interesting."

In the present state of the controversy it does not look as if the two sides will agree on the evidence collected by both sides and may so pass on to future days, when the controversy has lost some of its heat.

"The price of the theatre, precludes the possibility of its being the hold that the movie has in the life of the average American today."

—Walter Hampden.

"GIVE THEM A PLACE TO PLAY"

Plenty of room for drives and dens (glitter and glare and sin).
Plenty of room for prison pens (gather the criminals in!).
Plenty of room for jails and courts (willing to pay the price of the law).
But never a place for the lads to roze; no, never a place to play!

Plenty of room for shops and stores (Mammon must have his share).
Plenty of room for the running stores that rot in the city's breast!
Plenty of room for the lures that lead the also because possibly some day she may be monarch.

Plenty of room for schools and halls, plenty of room for the young of the year.
Plenty of room for tea and balls, platform, stage and more.
Proud is the city—the lads she finds to play.
But she's too busy to build if she fails to find a place for the boys to play!

Give them a chance for innocent sport, give them a chance for the things that are better than a playground play.
Better a playground plot than a court and a jail when the harm is done!
Give them a chance for the things that are better than a playground play.
Tomorrow you'll have to pay.
A larger bill for a dicker ill, so give them a place to play!

Wife Gives Helpful Suggestions To Aid Other Women in Trouble

Reader Writes She Has Solved Difficulties in This Way

By VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR MRS. LEE: I would like to offer a couple of suggestions to all men of the women who have written to you. First I want to say 'God bless the lady who writes to you so much more than I do.' I wish I could be like her. I would not be a lonely, elderly, old maid, but a young woman of good nature and good looks. I would not need to move her lips the type the rugged mountain folk live with. I would like to be like her. I wish I could be like her. I would not need to move her lips but think it is her presence. When alone she can really talk to God. I cleared up a very unusual difficulty in just that way. The other suggestion will be in two cases where the husband is a drunk. When the husband is a drunk, if these wives would mention to the doctor that they are the wife of the drunk, they will find that the doctor will be very kind to them. I wish I could be like her. I would not need to move her lips hope those that need them will be helped. We have written pleading, tears, etc. do not need to be like her. I wish I could be like her. I would not need to move her lips

It is I think that if your husband is a drunk, you should not be like her. I wish I could be like her. I would not need to move her lips

It is I think that if your husband is a drunk, you should not be like her. I wish I could be like her. I would not need to move her lips

It is I think that if your husband is a drunk, you should not be like her. I wish I could be like her. I would not need to move her lips

It is I think that if your husband is a drunk, you should not be like her. I wish I could be like her. I would not need to move her lips

Plan to Prevent Germany Starving Czechoslovakia Believed to Be Mapped

Solution of Danubian Policy Aim of French and British Statement

STRENGTH OF ARMIES

Coordination of Armies, Navies and Air Forces Agreed Upon

London, April 28 (CP)—The French and British statements today reached an agreement on steps to be taken to bring about a peaceful and equitable solution of central European problems.

The terms of the agreement, which follows yesterday's virtual silence, was not issued, fairly released.

The statement said for the second time that the two great powers of continental France and Britain, together with Czechoslovakia, a country threatened with the possibility of facing a new German drive for expansion.

Campaign Mapped

They were believed to have mapped an economic-diplomatic campaign to prevent Germany from starving Czechoslovakia into submission, considered one of the most serious economic problems of Danubian policy on small nations.

The official communique said the two governments had agreed on a general agreement to defend their common democracy and to secure peaceful and just solution of problems of central Europe.

How often we say, "It is as men how many feet, we can see without further explanation." But the weather is not so simple. It is formed by light from the sun, the wind, the rain, the clouds, the raindrops in the air, and the air itself. The weather is a complex of many factors, and it is not easy to understand.

IN MEMORIAM

HEARNS—Treasured memories of a loving mother, Mrs. J. Hearns, who was called home to her rest on May 1st, 1938. To live in the hearts of those who love her, is not to die. Deeply mourned by her family. Write for our literature.
